

Abstract

A surge protector for the transmitter of an electronic dog fence, which protector includes a direct connection to ground on one side of the antenna loop, with the signal being applied to the other side of the antenna loop.